

István Tasi

Head of the Hungarian Vedic Science Research Center and organiser of the Intelligent Design Workgroup in Hungary

- He was born in 1970 in Hungary.

- Qualifications

MA Cultural antropologist (1998) and MT vaishnava theologian (2005)

- Profession

Teacher, writer, lecturer.

- ThaVSRC

The Vedic Scienc Research Center is the scientific branch of the International Society for Krishna-consciousness (ISKCON). It represents the ancient vaisnava, hindu tradition based on the Vedic literature of India. ISKCON was founded by A. C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupada in 1966.

- Conferences

Yearly sommer universities in Somogyvámos between 1997-2004.

Intelligent Design - Rival of Evolution Theory (2003)

Does Supernatural Exist? (28th October 2005)

- Intelligent Design Workgroup

He organised the antievolutionist group. The group members are scientists, intellectuals, members and priests of different churches. They publish books, articles and organize conferences.

- Publications

- Where science stops (Hungarian, 1999)

- Darwin Made Monkeys From Us (Hungarian, 2000)

- Darwin's Decline (Hungarian, 2001)

- Nature's IQ (Hungarian version, 2002)

- Nature's IQ (English version, Torchlight Publishing 2009)

- Thesis (2005): Explanations of Origin

Evolution, Intelligent Design and the Vedic Description of Creation.

- What, If There Is No Evolution? Intelligent Design: a Viable Theory (Hungarian, 2007)

- Contact

tasi.istvan@pamho.net

(00-36) 30/530-6366

Mailing address:

Vedic Science Research Center

1062 Budapest

Andrássy út 53. I/1.

Hungary